INTRODUCTION.

The sixth edition of the MINNESOTA, DAKOTA AND MONTANA GAZETTEER AND BUSI- ESS DIRECTORY is presented to the public with the belief that it will be found reliable in ery particular and commensurate with the growth and prosperity of the locality and the mmercial and manufacturing interests which it represents. Labor and expense have t been considered in the endeavor to make the work equal to the demands of an acting public, and the long experience and unequaled facilities for such work make the esent volume as nearly perfect as it is possible to produce a work of this character and rthy of the important position it occupies in the Northwest.

The general arrangement of the work is similar to the preceding volumes. It con- s a descriptive sketch of each town, city, railroad station, hamlet, etc., in the State Territories, compiled in alphabetical order, showing the location, number of inhabi- manufactures, commercial and educational facilities, nearest shipping and banking ts, stage accommodation, etc., and the name of each person engaged in business.

The classified Business Directory contains the name of every business and profes- ional person in the State and Territories, arranged under their respective occupations with postoffice address. The miscellaneous information contained in this issue is excep- ionally complete. The State and Territorial sketches, prepared especially for this Gazetteer, are revised to the latest date, and contain valuable statistics relating to agri- ulture, manufactures, commerce, increase in population, etc., together with complete ists of State and Territorial officers, institutions, associations, court districts, courts and time of holding same, judges, etc. Succeeding these are complete lists of county seats and county officers, banks and bankers, commercial laws, etc.

Many thanks are due and are sincerely given to those who have by their liberal patronage rendered possible the publication of this volume. Also to the postmasters, who have in nearly every case responded cheerfully to the request for information.

In due course the seventh volume will appear, and as each succeeding volume has been an improvement over its predecessor, no effort will be spared to make it a complete epitome of information relating to the interests and progress of Minnesota, Dakota and Montana.

ARCHITECTS' AND BUILDERS' DIRECTORY

OF THE UNITED STATES

Embraces in a convenient form the Architects, Builders, dealers in Builders' Materials, and all others engaged in kindred lines of business. The next volume will contain a complete list, revised to the latest possible date, of all Architects, Stone Masons, Builders and Carpenters, classified under their various businesses, arranged alphabetically by states and towns in such a manner that any name wanted may be found at a glance. It will also contain the names and addresses of all the most prominent firms engaged in all businesses in any way connected with Architecture or Building, such as Architectural Wood Workers, Brick Dealers and Manufacturers, Dealers in Builders' Material, Elevator Manufacturers, Fire Brick and Fire Escape Manufacturers, Galvanized Iron Cornice Manufacturers, Gas and Steam Fitters, Gas Works Builders, Glass Manufacturers, Glass Stainers and Cutters, Lime, Plaster and Cement Manufacturers and Dealers, Locksmiths and Bell Hangers, Mantel Manufacturers, Paint and Color Manufacturers and Retail Dealers in same, Paper Hangers, Plasterers, Planing Mills, Plumbers, Roofers and Metal Cornice Manufacturers, Roofers, Slate and Cement Works, Dealers in Roofing Paint, Sash, Door and Blind Manufacturers, Stable Fittings, Iron Stair and Truss Manufacturers, Veneer Works, Ventilator Manufacturers, Veranda and Window Awning Manufacturers, Whitewashers, Whiting and Calcimine Manufacturers, Wood Carpet Manufacturers, and many more compiled under suitable headings convenient for instant reference. Preceding the whole will be given a compendious miscellany, containing much valuable information, including all State laws relating to Architects, Builders, etc., and many other items of interest to all engaged in any business connected with the building trade.

STATE OF MINNESOTA.

BY HON. H. H. YOUNG,
Ex-Secretary of the State Board of Immigration.

Since the publication of the preceding issue of the Minnesota, Dakota and Montana Gazetteer, two years ago, many changes have occurred, not among the least of which is that of the popular opinion about Minnesota. Since that time, larger numbers of people have been attracted hither by the wider dissemination of correct information and the more commonly understood advantages which this region has to offer. The increased notoriety of the excellent accommodations at our numerous lake resorts has added many to the number of pleasure-seekers who flock hither in summer, to escape from the cares of business and the lassitude consequent upon continuous residence in enervating climates of countries further south and east. Meanwhile the novelty of the widely advertised ice palaces and winter carnival sports in St. Paul for the three last seasons, has induced other multitudes to venture hither in winter time, rightly conjecturing that if the denizens of this "far northern country" are sufficiently exempt from suffering in the most inclement period of its inclement season, strangers may approach safely and remain long enough to witness the mirth-provoking scenes without periling their lives. Still a third inducement was found in the gradually extending conviction that this country offers better opportunities for making money than are to be found in the older settled portions of the Union.

DESCRIPTION OF THE STATE.

Because of its advantages of position, soil, climate and natural products, Minnesota is the most important of the Northwestern States of the Union. It extends north from latitude 43° 30′ to 49°, and west from longitude 90° to 97° near its northern boundary, and from 91°30′ to 96° 48′ on its southern frontier. Its shape is irregular, the mean length being about 348, and the mean breadth 244 miles, and its area is computed to be 84,286 square miles, or 53,943,379 acres. Its numerous inland lakes and rivers cover 3,608,012 acres, leaving a land area of 50,335,367 acres. Several of its inland lakes are quite large; the area of Red lake, for instance, being 340,000 acres, of Mille Lacs 130,000, Leech lake 114,000, Winnebagoshish 56,000, Vermillion 64,000, and of each of a number of others upward of 10,000 acres. It also has several large rivers, as the Mississippi, Red, Minnesota, St. Croix, St. Louis, Rainy Lake and Pigeon, all of which have their sources within her territory or within that closely contiguous. These have innumerable tributaries, among which are some of considerable size, which afford complete drainage for the entire State, while furnishing a vast number of widely diffused water powers, sufficient for the wants of every neighborhood.

The inland lakes are invariably deep, several of them measuring upwards of ten fathoms, and few, even of the smaller, less than four. Their waters are clear and cold, and are inhabited by myriads of bass, pike, pickerel and other edible varieties of fish, and their shores are commonly high and firm almost to the water's edge, and the bottoms sandy or gravelly. The waters of the streams are also pure and sparkling, and filled with a variety of excellent fish, amongst which speckled trout are by no means scarce, except where the waters have been too incessantly fished. These lakes and streams, while affording the very best of watering places for stock, tend to modify the temperature as well as the aridity of the atmosphere, thus securing a greater degree of warmth and heavier dews and rainfalls. In this way they contribute materially to the invigoration of both animal and vegetable life, and play an important part in maintaining the general health.

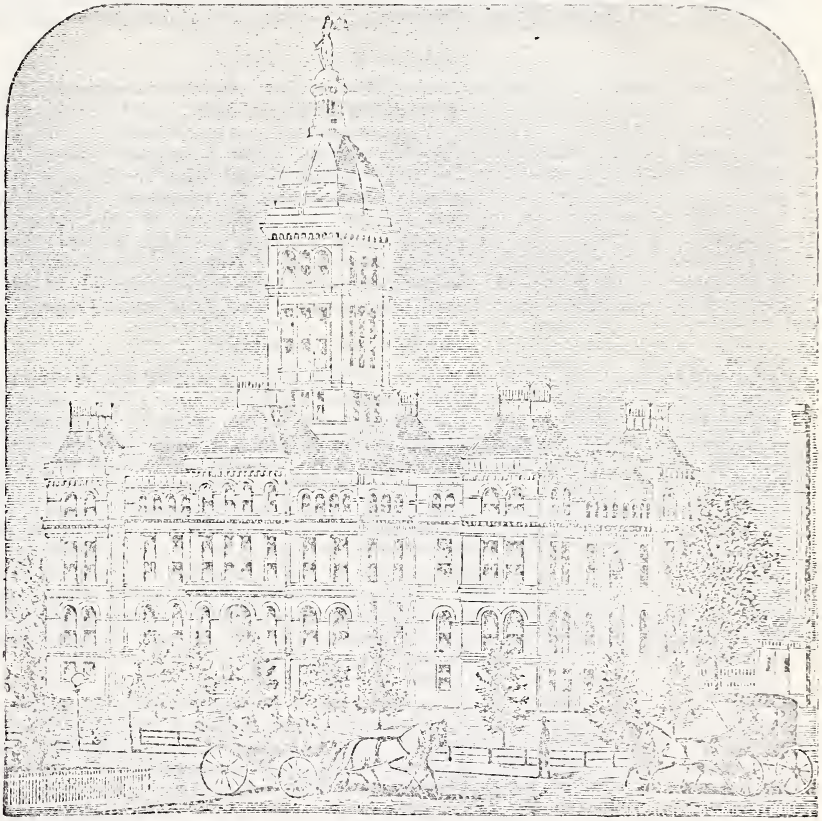
While the surface of Minnesota is nowhere mountainous, it is far from being level. Between each of its principal drainage systems are high plateaus, the surfaces of which are more or less furrowed by streams, which commonly form wide valleys, whose sides are gently inclined, thus giving the slopes of the divides an undulating or billowy-like appearance, constituting a charming feature of the scenery as well as securing thorough drainage. On the great divide between the waters flowing north and south (which crosses the northern part of the State), and to a less extent on that between the tributaries of the Upper Mississippi and the Minnesota rivers, the summit itself is crowned with a succession of low, mound-like hills, some of which rise to a height of upward of three hundred feet above the surrounding level. The same characteristics are also found in the southwestern counties, between the Minnesota and Des Moines drainage systems. These plateaus are from 1,400 to 1,600 feet above sea level, and the elevations of the surface vary from this to about 625 feet, or near the level of Lake Superior.



STATE CAPITOL, ST. PAUL.

THE FERTILE SOIL.

All parts of the State, except in the vicinity and north of Lake Superior and along the Lower Mississippi for some seventy-five miles north of the southern boundary line, are covered with deposits of alluvial drift to the depth of several hundred feet, and the mound-like hills mentioned as crowning the summits of the higher divides are mere dunes of this matter. For the most part the drift is composed of the finely triturated debris of rocks, but sometimes heaps of boulders, occasionally of enormous size, are found mixed with the pulverized particles. The inequalities of the surface of the land are apparently largely due to the action of flowing water upon this loose material, which, however, in not worn through so as to expose the rocky formations beneath, except in comparatively few places in the channels of the larger streams. The upper stratum of this deposit, which is properly called the soil, is nearly everywhere largely composed of the remains of animal and vegetable organisms, and, as it contains heavy percentages of mineral acids and alkalies, under the influence of the atmosphere it has become actively fertile to an astonishing degree, and seems almost incapable of exhaustion by cultivation. It is ordinarily very friable and easy to till, and certainly yields larger crops in proportion to the labor of cultivating than any other known description of soil.

PRAIRIES AND WOODLANDS.

While Minnesota has sufficient prairies within her boundaries to justly entitle her to rank with the prairie States, fully one-third of her surface is covered with timber. Indeed, with her present facilities for railroad transportation, no part of the State is inconveniently remote from forests whence to draw supplies of lumber and fuel. Then, again, her forests afford a variety of wood but little inferior to that of the heavily wooded districts of the Ohio valley. She has immense stores of white pine, oak, ash, birch, maple, poplar, linden, cedar, etc., in the eastern and northern sections, and there are but few counties that are wholly destitute of forests of some kind. Not only so, but everywhere on the prairie planted groves of forest trees grow with surprising rapidity, and soon attain sufficient size to afford shade and shelter from the winds. Hence, it is not likely that any serious inconvenience need ever be experienced here because of a lack of forest trees.

CLIMATIC PECULIARITIES.

The climate of the State is quite as peculiar as its soil, and fully as salubrious as the latter is fruitful. The general elevation leads necessarily to the atmosphere being more attentuated than that of lower regions and consequently less capable of holding moisture. At the same time this very quality of the air causes more rapid evaporation of water exposed to it, and the presence of so many lakes and streams giving off large quantities of vapor afford constant supplies of dew and rain. Hence, we have here the anomaly of a dry atmosphere with sufficient deposition of moisture to sustain vegetation in a thrifty condition, and without probability of even temporary drouth, unless under the very rare circumstance of long-continued southwesterly winds. These facts, together with that of the high north latitude, also account for the fall of moisture, whether as dew or rain, mostly at night, during the warm season. They also account for the variableness of the temperature, which is marked at all seasons of the year, and at the same time furnish a sufficient reason why this does not affect the health of the inhabitants injuriously. The dry, thin air does not absorb the heat of the body, not being nearly so good a conductor of heat as atmosphere that is saturated with moisture. Therefore, though a change of temperature of twenty-five or more degrees may occur within a few hours, the physical system is hardly conscious of it, because its heat is absorbed so very slowly that it has time to rally and resist the influence of the change. Instead of being injurious, these changes really appear to exert a beneficial influence upon the health of both men and animals, and several eminent physicians have not hesitated to attribute the salutary effect which the climate of Minnesota produces on invalids to the fact of their frequent occurrence.

LOCATION AND OUTLETS.

The location of the State is another and a very important natural advantage, and one which must always give her a leading position amongst the Northwestern States. She is at the head of three systems of navigation, two of which already do, and the third may in the future, connect her with the Atlantic ocean, at widely different points. The first and most important of these is that of the great lakes, which must, in the not very distant future, be utilized for carrying much of the produce of the Northwest to the Atlantic seaboard. Next is the Mississippi river, affording a channel for cheap communication with the Southern states, and, through the Gulf of Mexico, with foreign countries. On the west, the Red River of the North connects her with the vast and productive empire of the western Canadian provinces through lakes Winnipeg and Manitoba and the Saskatchewan river, and with whatever navigation projects through Nelson or Churchill rivers and Hudson bay that may hereafter be found practicable. While the opening of this latter route, if it is at all feasible, may possibly divert considerable shares of the products of and supplies for the northwestern provinces from being carried across this State, such loss will be measurably compensated for by the fact of its opening another much shorter and competing outlet by water for marketing the products of the State, which is easily and cheaply accessible through the Red river. These three waterways give the State a decided commercial advantage, of which she can never be deprived.

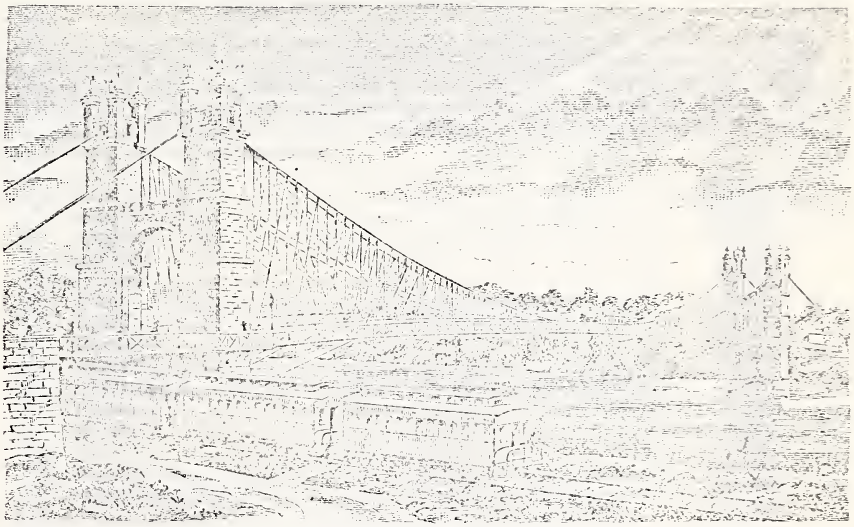
HISTORIC REMINISCENCE.

As long ago as near the middle of the seventeenth century the French voyageurs and discoverers, who explored this region and established numerous trading posts within the limits of the present State, perceived and appreciated the advantages of the two first described waterways, and noticed them at length in their official reports. They also wrote as glowingly of the fertility of the soil and salubrity of the climate of this region as have any modern writers, not excepting authors of railroad immigration tracts. The agents of the Hudson Bay Company who succeeded the French in the occupation of the trading posts of the country, after the cession of Canada to the English, were likewise enthusiastic in their praises of this climate, soil, and of the accessibility of this region. They, too, fully understood the importance of its several outlets by water and of the facilities of internal communication afforded by its rivers as well, and commented at length upon both these topics.



SUSPENSION BRIDGE, MINNEAPOLIS.

Nor were the earlier American explorers and traders, who followed the English at the close of the last century, any less captivated by the soil and climate, nor less impressed with the importance of its uncommon commercial facilities. It was not until after the American Fur Company obtained a secure footing here, and when experience had taught its directors that settlers were likely to follow speedily and convert their rich hunting grounds into cultivated fields, that derogatory reports concerning the climate began to be circulated. Hitherto nobody seemed to have noticed that Minnesota winters were colder than those of Ohio or Illinois. About the same time, too, the soil seems to have become much less remarkably fertile, and the other natural advantages were apparently no longer noteworthy. Evidently the traders did not want settlers to intrude upon them, and, hence, did all in their power to prevent their coming. Soldiers, however, had to be sent here to keep the Indians in subjection, and the heavy forests of white pine soon attracted lumbermen. As the two latter classes were not interested in retarding the approach of settlements, they took no pains to conceal the attractions of the country; and, through their instrumentality, the truth began again to be made public. Notwithstanding the contradictory statements industriously circulated by traders about that time, a few hardy pioneers finally ventured hither on prospecting tours, most of whom were well enough satisfied to remain.

This, however, was not until after 1840, and up till that date almost the only cultivation of the soil within the present confines of the State was that done by a small colony of Swiss, whom Lord Selkirk had brought to America to people his Red river settlement, and who, not being satisfied there, moved across the international boundary, locating finally where the city of St. Paul now stands. Up till 1849 this country was part of the Territory of Wisconsin, but, on the latter being admitted as a State to the Union, a new territorial government was organized for Minnesota, which had, at that date, a population of 4,940 souls, mainly confined to the limited area now comprised in four or five townships in Ramsey and Hennepin counties and in the immediate vicinity of Fort Snelling. In 1850 the number of white inhabitants had increased to 6,077.

DEVELOPMENT OF THE STATE.

In 1858 its present boundaries were fixed and it was admitted to the Union. Since that time its growth has been very rapid. The U. S. census of 1860 gave it 172,023 inhabitants; that of 1870, 439,706; and that of 1880, 780,773. Its present population will, it is believed, exceed one and a half millions, and it is still rapidly increasing. By the State census of 1885, when the total population was 1,117,798, it was found to be composed of the following nationalities:

Born in Minnesota	417,213
" other States	269,907
" England	12,692
" Scotland	4,825
" Ireland	31,801
" Wales	1,278
" Canada	45,473
" Germany	112,926
" Austria	5,646
" Switzerland	2,654
" Russia	2,486
" Bohemia	7,645
" France	1,840
" Scandinavia	184,948
" other countries	13,299
Unknown nationalities	3,165
Total	1,117,798

Of those set down as from unknown countries, fully two-thirds were from Holland, Belgium and Luxemburg, and the others mostly from small German principalities, and should have been included with those from Germany. Since the census was taken, the population has no doubt been increased by fully 425,000, giving the State a present population, as claimed above, of more than one and one-half millions! To show that this claim is not ill-founded, it will hardly be necessary to do more than call attention to the fact that the aggregated populations of St. Paul and Minneapolis, which in the census year numbered less than 250,000, now reach fully 435,000, while Duluth has much more than doubled hers within the three years. Nor is there a city in the State which has not had additions largely above the proportion here claimed for the entire State.

In describing the development of Minnesota, the truth can best be conveyed by considering it in several divisions, inasmuch as each of these has had a rate of progress peculiar to itself; for instance, the which, except the locality immediately in the vicinity of St. Paul, Minneapolis and Stillwater, have, from the start, been most advanced, having been the earliest settled in their entirety. This section is composed of the counties of Dakota, Goodhue, Wabasha, Winona and Houston, which front northeastwardly on the Mississippi river; Scott and Le Sueur, fronting to the northwest on the Minnesota river; Fillmore, Mower and Freeborn, on the Iowa line, and Rice, Olmsted, Dodge, Steele and Waseca in the interior. Its population in 1860 was 46,712, and in 1880 it contained 289,191 inhabitants. At the latter date there were 29,228 farms opened, 2,226,963 acres of land under cultivation, and 5,234,618 acres taxable. The farm and orchard productions of the year preceding the census were valued at $24,385,828, or almost half of those of the entire State; and it produced also about one-third of the farm animals and dairy products, and nearly twenty-three per cent., or more than $17,262,438 worth, of the manufactures. In other words, its products were worth per annum, at that time, about $58,943,292.

Since 1880 it has addded largely to its wealth by the revolution made in agricultural industry. Instead of depending mainly upon wheat growing, the farmers have turned their attention to raising stock and dairying; and from the most reliable statistics available it is estimated that her aggregate productions in 1885 reached fully $59,000,000. During the two years that have since elapsed, its population and wealth have increased in still greater ratio, as a consequence of a very considerable addition to its railway facilities, by the construction of the Minnesota & Northwestern, which crosses it from north to south.

THE SOUTHWESTERN COUNTIES,

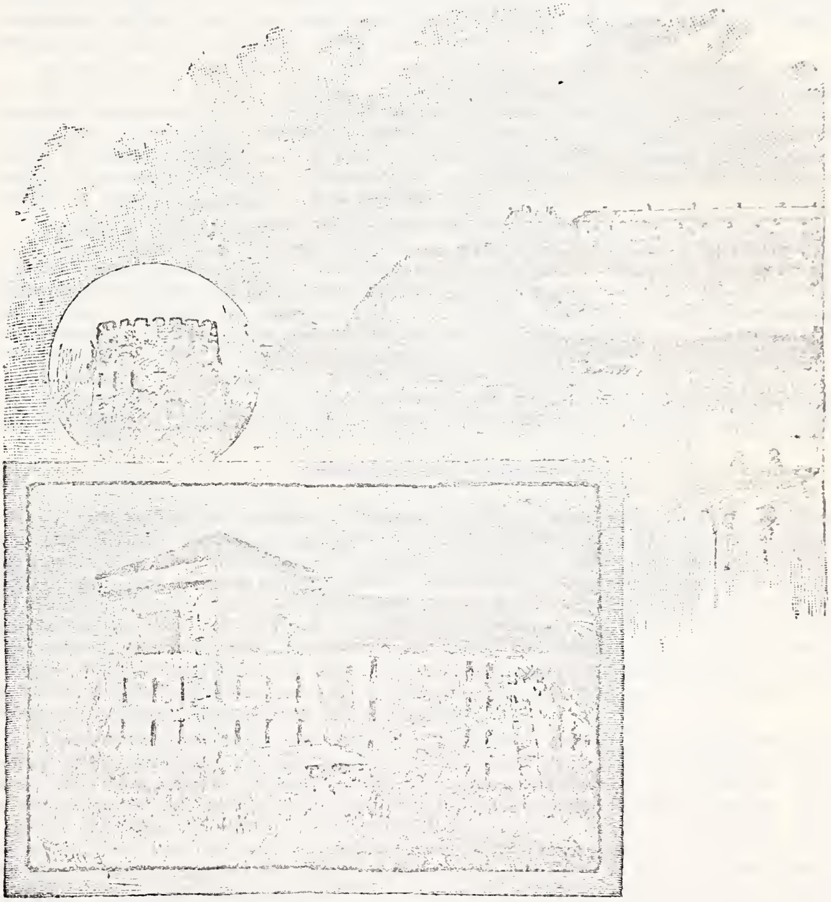
sixteen in number, form a second division, lying west of that first named and extending from the Iowa line north to the Minnesota river. They are Blue Earth, Brown, Cottonwood, Faribault, Jackson, Lac qui Parle, Lincoln, Lyon, Martin, Murray, Nobles, Pipestone, Redwood, Rock, Watonwan and Yellow Medicine, and contan 6,871,329 acres. Except its northeastern corner, where about 100,000 acres are covered by the Big Woods, this is a prairie district, and, in appearance, one of the handsomest sections of country in the Northwest. It is crossed from northwest to southeast by the Couteaux des Prairie, the high range of hills mentioned in the preceding description of the State, which divide it nearly equally.

Though that part lying in the Minnesota valley, as far west as Fort Ridgely, was settled prior to 1860, and Mankato was a considerable village four years earlier, the settlement of the western and southern counties, distant from lines of railway, is of recent occurrence, and there are still miles of unoccupied land in all of the counties except Blue Earth, Brown and Faribault, belonging either to railway land companies or private individuals. In 1880 the number of farms was 17,169, and the acres under cultivation 855,501; the population being then 107,677, as against 43,583 in 1870, and 8,918 in 1860. The total value of farm and orchard products was $6,414,739; of farm animals, about $8,406,080, and of manufactured articles, $2,918,979. By 1885 the inhabitants had increased to 134,397. In 1885 those values had increased about as follows: Farm products, $8,339,161; farm animals, $10,952,883, and manufactures, $4,086,569. This part of the State began a period of prosperity beyond any it had hitherto known, in 1884-5, having just endured a three-years' scourge of locust visitations, extending throughout nearly every part of it, which reduced many of its farmers to positive indigence and made them despair of success in the growing of grain crops. They were convinced, at least, that it was not prudent to depend solely upon these, and, therefore, resorted to stock growing. They have since become largely engaged in dairying and butter-making, and have advanced in prosperity beyond their most sanguine expectations. The section now contains upwards of 22,000 farms, and the numbers of its live stock have been largely augmented.

EASTERN CENTRAL COUNTIES.

These comprise all east of the Mississippi river, extending north to the 47th parallel of latitude, embracing the counties of Aitkin, Anoka, Benton, Carlton, Chisago, Crow Wing, Isanti, Kanabec, Mille Lacs, Morrison, Pine, Ramsey, Sherburne, and Washington. Parts of Crow Wing and Morrison lie on the west side of the Mississippi. Except the southern portion, it is generally wooded, and for this reason its settlement has been slower than that of other parts of the State. The very cause, however, which formerly operated to retard its growth is now accelerating the development, for the reason that its lumber and fuel supplies are in active demand at good prices, and it is being rapidly occupied by new-comers, who are opening farms or establishing factories.

Its agricultural products are wheat, oats, barley, corn, potatoes, all varieties of field and garden vegetables, berries and orchard products. It is also an excellent country for farm animals, as the grasses are abundant and of superior quality in its open portions. The agricultural products of 1880 were valued at $3,214,579, and their estimated value in 1885 reached $5,464,784, without counting the immense quantities of cranberries and and blueberries which are sent to market annually. In the meantime the manufactured articles produced grew from $18,652,754 to about $40,936,059 in value, and of cattle and dairy products from $2,843,819 to $4,924,025. This portion of the State must become important and wealthy in the immediate future. Within three years its railway facilities have been considerably increased, and projects are now on foot for adding to them largely. St. Paul is in its southeastern corner, with Minneapolis close at hand, and Duluth at but short distance on the northeast. It contains also the cities of Stillwater in the southeast and Brainerd in the northern portion.



FORT SNELLING, ON LINE OF C., M. & ST. P. RY.

WESTERN CENTRAL COUNTIES.

This section includes the counties of Big Stone, Carver, Chippewa, Douglas, Grant, Hennepin, Kandiyohi, McLeod, Meeker, Nicollet, Otter Tail, Pope, Renville, Sibley, Stearns, Stevens, Swift, Todd and Wright, forming all that part of the State west of the Mississippi and north of the Minnesota rivers, south of the Northern Pacific railway, except what belongs to the valley of Red river. It is the largest section and most diversified in its surface, being divided by the height of land which separates the waters of the Mississippi from those of the Minnesota and Red rivers, into two nearly equal parts, the eastern declining toward the northeast and the western toward the southwest. That portion of it occupying the summit of the tableland, and lying east thereof, may be called forest country, while on the western side, prairie predominates. The latter division is, however, dotted with numerous groves, while in the former there are a large number of isolated, or nearly isolated prairies. The timber, except in the northern part, is deciduous, consisting of oak, ash, elm, sugar-maple, hackberry, butternut, linden, cottonwood and several other varieties, and in the north white pine predominates.

As early as 1857 settlers had penetrated as far as into McLeod and Meeker counties, but all beyond was scarcely more than an unoccupied waste as recently as 1870, when of its entire population of 111,198, 93,354 were denizens of the eight southeastern counties. By 1880 the population of this latter portion had increased to 164,572, and that of the entire division to 250,297, and in 1885 the State census gave the former 268,684, and the total for the division 389,661. Minneapolis, one of the great cities of the Northwest, is located in Hennepin county, in this division.

According to the census of 1880, these counties contained 27,323 farms and 1,292,350 acres of cultivated land, although there were still 3,234,805 acres of the total area of 9,212,383 acres unoccupied, or, in other words, not taxable. That is to say, only a little more than one-fifth of the land owned by private individuals, and about one-seventh of the entire area, was improved eight years ago. In 1885 the number of farms was estimated at 38,424, and the total area of improved lands upward of 2,000,000 of acres. The values of farm and orchard products in 1880 aggregated $14,301,399, and in 1885 about $27,172,858, and the values of live stock and dairy products, which were $14,110,834 in 1880, were not less than $24,005,340 in 1885. The value of manufactures produced was $36,185,460 in 1880, and were about $72,370,920 for 1886. This portion of the State is still developing rapidly.

NORTHWESTERN COUNTIES

These comprise the counties of Traverse, Wilkin, Clay, Becker, Norman, Polk, Marshall and Kittson, having an aggregate area of 7,874,868 acres. This section is 148 miles long north and south, and varies in width from 15 to 78 miles. It embraces all of the famous Red river valley lying in this State, and extends, in its widest part, between 40 and 50 miles on to the high tableland east of it. The valley proper is from 22 to 45 miles wide, and so flat that its variation from a dead level is scarcely preceptible, yet it has a sufficient declination toward the west to shed its waters in that direction, being crossed by fourteen streams, which empty into Red river. It is a very interesting part of the State and has attracted general attention, not only in this country, but in all parts of Europe as well, by the abundance and excellence of its wheat.

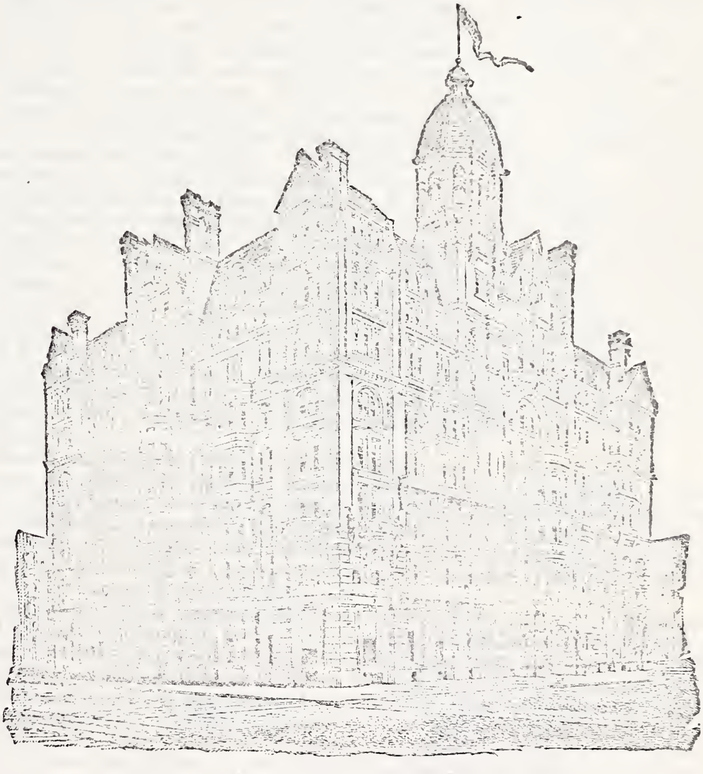
The settlement of this region is of very recent occurrence. In 1870 it had but 400 inhabitants. In 1880 its population had increased to 27,848, and the census of 1885 gave it 65,221. It is estimated that fully 9,000 have been added since. In 1880 the number of farms opened was 4,287, and the improved lands aggregated 255,611 acres. By the estimate for 1885, these had increased to more than 10,000 farms, with 643,000 acres of improved land; and the value of farm animals, which aggregated $1,400,973 in 1880, is estimated to have reached $3,250,000 at this time. All kinds of stock do well here, but attention is devoted more especially to neat cattle and hogs. Stock requires but little more care than in the southern counties, and pasturage and forage supplies are plentiful. The feeding season will average, perhaps, three weeks longer than in the southern counties of the State.

The aggregate values of the industrial products in 1880, were as follows: Agricultural products, $1,526,254; farm animals and their products, $1,400,973; and manufactures, $589,560; total, $3,516,787. No later reliable statistics are available, though these figures might safely be more than doubled. The development of this section is also manifested in the rapidly increasing prices of real property in the vicinity of railway stations, although there are yet some 2,300,000 acres of good land not occupied.

NORTHERN CENTRAL COUNTIES.

This group includes Wadena, Cass, Hubbard, Itasca, and Beltrami counties, having a total area of 9,299,234 acres of land, and 1,255,464 of water surface. It is a region of dense forests, multitudinous lakes and streams, and somewhat numerous marshes. It is crossed by the Mesabi ridge, a range of low hills, seamed in all directions by rivulets and often cut into deep ravines, giving to the surface an appearance of mountainous ruggedness. The tops and sides of the hills are usually covered with luxuriant growths of pine, and other varieties of coniferæ, while the valleys and lower tablelands bear equally thrifty forests of deciduous trees.

On its southern side, the incline of the slope is hardly perceptible, and as surface drainage is obstructed, frequent marshes are formed. On the northern side the descent is shorter and there are no marshes except in the northern part of Beltrami county. This is pre-eminently a region of lakes, which are very large. The streams are also numerous, and as all these waters abound with fish and water fowl, and the forests are full of game, it is the ideal paradise of the sportsman.



WEST HOTEL, MINNEAPOLIS.

Among the deciduous trees are white oak, elm, white and black ash, hackberry, maple, birch, linden, and several other valuable kinds for use in manufactures, the north slope being especially rich in valuable deciduous forests. Prairies, of from one or two hundred to several thousand acres, are frequent, and are invariably covered with luxuriant growths of red top and other grasses. The soil, wherever cultivation has been attempted, yields bountifully. The climate is colder, of course, than in the southern part of the State, but no more inclement than prairie countries three or four degrees further south, because of the protection which the forests afford.

Want of facilities for transportation has deterred attempts at its development elsewhere than in Wadena, Hubbard, and the southern part of Cass county. In 1870 its total white population was 562; the census of 1880, however, gave it 2,700, and that of 1885, 5,901. Its agricultural products in 1879 were valued at $69,352; farm animals and their products at $83,236, and manufactures at $137,150. These have increased largely since. There is a tolerably fair assurance that this region will be intersected by two lines of railway in the very early future, upon which its speedy development may be confidently anticipated. At present so little is known about it that its importance is only appreciated for its lumber and fuel supplies.

NORTHEASTERN COUNTIES.

St. Louis, Lake and Cook form what may be called the mining district, and except the west half of the former, which is similar to the section last described, they lie directly north of Lake Superior, and are wholly unlike any other part of the State. They contain 6,842,300 acres, much of their surface being covered by lakes and streams. The height of land dividing the waters flowing east and south from those emptying into Hudson's Bay, crosses the north part of this division, entering near its eastern extremity and trending to the southwest. For a distance of seventy-five miles, in its eastern section, this divide is known as the "Iron Range," because of the profusion of iron ore it contains. It is from twenty-five to thirty-five miles wide and almost bare of vegetation except mosses and a few stunted trees, scattered here and there. The ore lies near the surface, being frequently exposed, and is within easy reach from the three or four harbors on the north side of Lake Superior. It is of hard, hematite variety, and assays from sixty-five to seventy-two per cent. of metallic iron. That taken from nearLake Vermillion averages 67.7 per cent. metallic iron, the other elements being manganese, lime, magnesia, silica, and alumina, with .0016 per cent. sulphur and .077 per cent. phosphorus. A mine was opened in 1884 on Lake Vermillion, at the west end of the range, and some 1,200 miners are now employed there. A railway was built from the mines to Two Harbors, on the north shore of Lake Superior, in 1886, and since extended thence to Duluth. Either this line or another will probably be built eastward, along the range, with a branch to Grand Marais, within the coming year, and it is also quite probable that it will be continued westward along the valley of Rainy Lake river, and into Red River valley, to connect with the systems of railway reaching into Dakota and Montana.

If such contemplated enterprises are carried into execution, they will tend greatly to facilitate the development of the entire northern part of the State. Besides its iron deposit, this division contains abundant supplies of copper, while silver and gold are found in sufficient quantities to make their mining profitable when transportation facilities are afforded. Southward from the Iron Range there is a heavy pine forest, reaching to within a few miles of the lake shore, and below it a good growth of deciduous trees, among which the birch is most numerous.

This cannot in any sense be called an agricultural region, yet attempts at farming have been made in several parts of it, especially in the vicinity of Duluth, which have been attended with a good measure of success. Root crops and several varieties of garden vegetables grow luxuriantly, as do also a number of kinds of berries, such as strawberries, raspberries, blueberries, currants and gooseberries. Red top and some other varieties of grasses are produced, together with oats and rye, and even small quantities of wheat and corn have been grown, though the season is too short for them to mature well. In 1870 the census gave this division 1,696 inhabitants, nearly all of whom were located in Duluth. In 1880 it was credited with only 4,675. After the latter census was taken, its resources began to be appreciated, and by 1885 its inhabitants had increased to 21,228, of whom 17,418 belonged to Duluth. The population of Duluth has grown phenomenally since, and the city now claims 35,000 inhabitants. Tower, the mining town on Vermillion lake, which is not three years old, is said to have 2,500, and Two Harbors 800 and upwards. The present population of the entire section will number nearly 55,000, perhaps, and the total industrial products, valued at $306,883 in 1880, will not fall below $2,000,000, besides the fisheries, of which no statistics are given.

GENERAL SUMMARY.

From the foregoing, it will be perceived that Minnesota not only has a peculiarly diversified surface, but that the products of the different sections vary even more widely, and constitute her, what she claims to be, a region of mixed industries. In the agricultural line she takes a front rank for the excellence, abundance and variety of her products. Her mines and quarries, with her abundant, excellent clays, lime, etc., give her equal prominence in this line, and combine with her forest products to make her an important manufacturing district. That the reader may be better enabled to appreciate her standing and wealth, the following tabulated statement of the most recent statistics and computations is presented :

ASYLUM FOR DEAF AND DUMB, FARIBAULT.

SECTIONS.	1880.	1886.
Southeast counties	$58,943,292	$64,416,249
Southwest counties	17.739,798	23,378,618
East central counties	24,710,953	51,324,868
West central counties	64,597,693	123,549,118
Northwest counties	3,516,986	7,341,664
North central counties	289,738	648,126
Northeast counties	307,149	1,558,630
Total	$170,105,609	$272,217,273

These values were distributed among the several classes of products thus :

	1880.	1886.
Stock and its products	$44,180,985	$61,933,024
Soil products	49,960,492	69,764,291
Manufactures, etc	75,964,132	140,519,958
Total	$170,105,609	$272,217,273

The progress of the State has since been fully maintained. Last year there were 173 miles added to her railways, giving the systems an aggregate length of 4,891 miles. In banking capital, educational facilities, religious and charitable institutions, and opportunities for social enjoyment, etc., she has gained a leading position even when compared with the central States of the Union.

THE DUAL CITY BLUE BOOK

Is a social and household convenience, intended to supply in the family the place of the business directory in the counting room. While the design of the work imposes a limit on its contents and liberty of selection, it is not a book of the peerage. The names of prominent householders and society proper are arranged alphabetically by names and numerically by streets.

It is primarily a book for the use of ladies. It is a convenient book of reference for making out a calling list, or addressing invitations. It directs to places of amusement, to public buildings, to places of general resort, and includes a valuable shopping guide. No pains or expense is spared in collecting and sifting information in a manner that secures the work against unwarrantable or offensive intrusions, and at the same time nothing that is essential to completeness is omitted. The book is handsomely bound in blue cloth, with gilt edge, making a useful ornament to every parlor table.

R. L. POLK & CO., Publishers, St. Paul, Minn.

COMMERCIAL LAWS OF MINNESOTA.

Revised by Pinch & Twohy, of the St. Paul Bar, for the Wilbur Mercantile Agency.

Affidavits in this state may be made before judges of supreme, district, or probate courts, or clerks of said courts, or before county commissioners, registers of deeds, notaries public, or justices of the peace within their respective jurisdictions. Also before clerks of United States circuit and district courts for this district. Out of this state, may be made before any officer authorized to administer oaths, whose official character is certified to by clerk of court of record. Certificate dispensed with in case of notaries public and of commissioners for this state. No particular form required.

Assignments.—Assignments for the benefit of creditors are governed by what is known as the general assignment law, and by the insolvent law of 1881 and amendments under general assignment law (chapter 41, Statutes of Minnesota, 1878), creditor can share in dividend, and if insufficient to satisfy claim, can hold debtor for balance under insolvent law (General Laws of Minnesota, 1881, chapter 148); when property of debtor levied upon or attached under writ issued out of court of record (except where execution is issued in action where complaint has been filed twenty days prior to entry of judgment), debtor may within ten days thereafter, make assignment for equal benefit of all his creditors, and thereupon such levy or attachment is dissolved; if debtor neglects to so assign, or omits doing any act to prevent creditors obtaining preferences, then within sixty days thereafter, receiver may be appointed upon petition of any two or more creditors whose claims amount to $200 in the aggregate. Creditors must file release of claim in full, in order to share in dividend, otherwise they cannot share in distribution.

Attachment.—Writ allowed, upon affidavit of plaintiff, his agent or attorney, stating that a cause of action exists against defendant and the grounds thereof, and that the debt was fraudulently contracted, or that the defendant is a foreign corporation, or not a resident of this state; or has departed therefrom, as deponent verily believes, with intent to defraud or delay his creditors, or to avoid the services of a summons, or keeps himself concealed with like intent, or has assigned, secreted or disposed of, or is about to assign, secret or dispose of his property with intent to delay or defraud his creditors. But no writ is allowed in actions for libel, slander, seduction, breach of promise of marriage, false imprisonment or assault and battery. Bond of not less than $250 required of plaintiff. Attachment dissolved by debtor giving bond, in double the amount of the debt claimed, for the payment of whatever judgment plaintiff may obtain.

Chattel Mortgages are void as against creditors and subsequent mortgages and purchasers in good faith, unless acknowledged before an officer authorized to take the acknowledgment of deeds, or a town clerk, and filed in the office of the town, city, or village clerk, both where the property is situated and where the mortgagor resides at the time of the execution of the mortgage; are then valid but cease to be notice after two years from date the same becomes due, unless mortgagee, before expiration of the two years, makes and attaches to the original or copy, an affidavit setting forth his interest, which he has by virtue of said mortgage, and such affidavit extends lien of mortgage one year. A mortgage of chattels coupled with an agreement or understanding, that mortgagor may retain possession of property and sell or dispose of same, without applying proceeds in satisfaction of debts, is fraudulent and void as to creditors and subsequent purchasers.

Deeds executed within this state, of lands or any interest in lands, shall be executed in the presence of two witnesses, who shall subscribe their names to the same as such. Acknowledgments in this state may be taken before any judge or clerk of a court of record, notaries public, justice of the peace, registers of deeds, court commissioners and county auditors, within their respective jurisdictions. Officers having or using seal must affix same to acknowledgment. Deeds executed out of state and in the United States, must be acknowledged before one of the following officers. Any one of the justices of the supreme court of the United States, any judge of a district court of the United States, the judges or justice of supreme, circuit or other court of record of any state, territory or district of the United States, and the clerks of the several courts above mentioned, also before notaries public, justices of the peace, and commissoners appointed by the governor of this state for such purpose. Such acknowledgment can only be taken in territory where officer taking has jurisdiction by appointment or election. In all cases the officer taking acknowledgment must indorse upon or append to instrument a certificate of such acknowledgment, the date of same, and must date and sign certificate.

EXEMPTIONS.—Homestead not exceeding eighty acres of land and dwelling thereon, or if an incorporated town, one lot with dwelling thereon without regard to its value. Household goods, implements, and subsistence for family are allowed; also tools and stock of artisans in value not exceeding $400; printers' presses and stock to value of $2,000; also wages of laboring man or woman, or their children, not exceeding $20, and in actions of garnishment all wages of a laboring man if it appears to the court that they are necessary for the support of the laborer's family. If married man absconds from the state, his family may continue to occupy such homestead, and same shall be exempt from execution.

INTEREST.—Legal, seven per cent; by contract in writing, ten. Contracts to pay interest on interest overdue shall not be construed usury. Notes and other instruments bearing interest, when no rate of interest is named after maturity, construed to bear the same interest as before until paid. If more than the above rates of interest are paid, the person paying, or his representative, may, within two years of such payment, recover the full amount of interest or premium so paid, with costs, from the person receiving the same, or his legal representative.

JUSTICE'S JURISDICTION.—Any amount under $100.

LIMITATIONS.—For the recovery of real estate, action may be brought within twenty years; on judgment of court of record, ten years to foreclose mortgages, within fifteen years from time of action accrues; upon contracts, expressed or implied, six years; for relief on charge of fraud, two years.

MARRIED WOMEN retain all their separate property belonging to them at time of marriage; may contract and do business in her own rights, but husband must join in all conveyance of real estate; may sue and be sued in her own name; may join with husband in conveyance of real estate, if under age. Estates in dower are abolished.

PROOF OF CLAIMS.—Non-residents sending claims for collection, should give full names of creditors and their residence, full names of debtors so far as known, and their place of business, an itemized statement of account, which, if suit is directed, or if against the estate of a deceased person, should be verified by oath to the effect that the same is true, and justly due above all legal set-offs, and, when convenient, the name of some person resident of this state who will execute a bond for costs. Such a course will often save much delay.

REVIVOR.—Part payment or new promise in writing.

REDEMPTION.—Real estate sold under execution and foreclosure, one year; for taxes, two years.

STAY OF EXECUTION.—Judgment of district court, six months; justice's court, $10 to over $75, one to six months.

WITNESS.—Party not excluded by reason of interest or crime.

CAUTION.

Pay no money in advance to itinerant Directory Canvassers. We are led to mention this from the fact that certain parties have been fraudulently using our book as a specimen, and by that means collecting money in advance. We ask no payment until the work is delivered, and our solicitors have strict orders not to take payment for either advertisements or subscriptions.

R. L. POLK & CO.

See that our Name is on Order before signing.

CHICAGO.

A GREAT RAILWAY.

The CHICAGO, MILWAUKEE & ST. PAUL RAILWAY COMPANY

Now owns and operates over fifty-six hundred miles of thoroughly equipped road in Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri and Dakota. Each recurring year its lines are extended in all directions to meet the necessities of the rapidly populating sections of country west, northwest and southwest of Chicago, and to furnish a market for the products of the greatest agricultural and stock-raising districts of the world. In Illinois it operates 317 miles of track; in Wisconsin, 1,332 miles; in Iowa, 1,566 miles; in Minnesota, 1,122 miles; in Dakota, 1,213 miles; in Missouri 142 miles, and the end is not yet. It has terminals in such large cities as Chicago, Milwaukee, La Crosse, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Fargo, Sioux City, Council Bluffs, Omaha, and Kansas City and St. Joseph, Mo., and along it lines are hundreds of large and small thriving cities, towns and villages. Manufacturing interests are cultivated, and all branches of trade find encouragement. The Railway Company has a just appreciation of the value of its patrons, and its magnificent earnings are the result of the good business tact which characterizes the management of its affairs.

The popularity of the line is attested by the fact that, notwithstanding the strongest kind of competition of old and new lines, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway continues to carry the greater proportion of all the business between Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Minneapolis. It is the best patronized route to and from all points in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Dakota and Iowa, and its Kansas City and St. Joseph line will undoubtedly take equal rank with the older lines leading to and from the Southwest.

On all its through lines of travel the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway runs the most perfectly equipped trains of Sleeping, Parlor and Dining Cars and Coaches. The through trains on all its lines are systematically heated by steam. No effort is spared to furnish the best accommodations for the least money, and, in addition, patrons of the road are sure of courteous treatment from its employes.

OREGON

The great, new and flourishing State of Oregon offers to the immigrant more substantial inducements for settlement than any of the Eastern States, and to ignorance of its vast resources, the productive quality of its soil, and its mild, delightful climate, may be attributed the fact that so much of its area is still without cultivation. It is being rapidly filled up now, and a decade hence the value of its land and products will have more than doubled.

Washington Territory

Lying next to Oregon, is also one of the most prolific sections in the Great Northwest, and it is a matter of no small significance that its yield of Wheat, Barley, Flax and Hops for 1885 was nearly double what it was in 1884, and that the products brought a much higher price.

Oregon and Washington are the only two sections in the United States which produced full crops for 1885. See Government statistics.

It Will Pay Every Progressive Farmer

To examine into the advantages of Oregon and Washington, and even if you have no thought of changing your home you should write to one of the undersigned for information, as you should not be ignorant of what this section can produce.

The Oregon Railway & Navigation Company furnishes facilities for reaching all portions of the country, and offers special low rates to immigrants. Write to

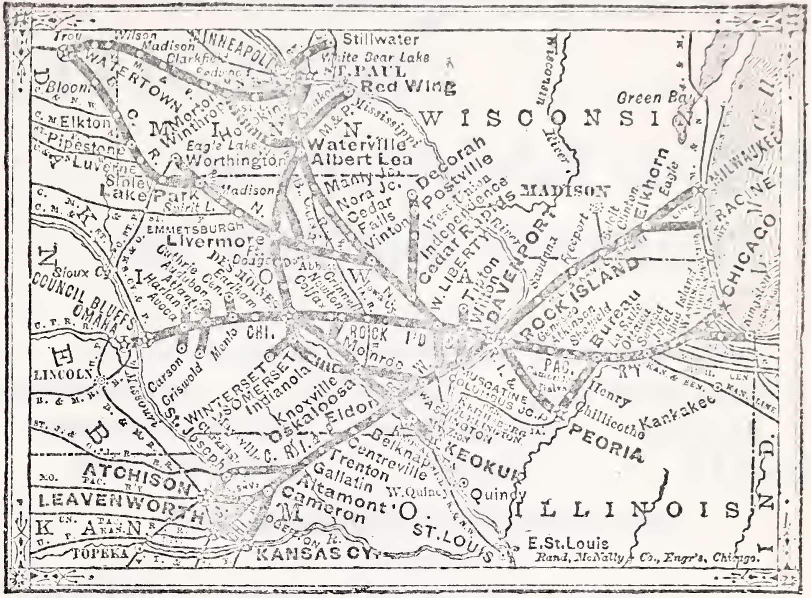
A MAN

WHO IS UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THIS COUNTRY, WILL SEE BY EXAMINING THIS MAP, THAT THE



CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC R'Y

By reason of its central position, close relation to principal lines East of Chicago and continuous lines at terminal points West, Northwest and Southwest—is the only true middle-link in that transcontinental system which invites and facilitates travel and traffic in either direction between the Atlantic and Pacific.

The Rock Island main line and branches include Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, La Salle, Peoria, Geneseo, Moline and Rock Island, in Illinois; Davenport, Muscatine, Washington, Fairfield, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, West Liberty, Iowa City, Des Moines, Indianola, Winterset, Atlantic, Knoxville, Audubon, Harlan, Guthrie Centre and Council Bluffs, in Iowa; Gallatin, Trenton, St. Joseph, Cameron and Kansas City, in Missouri; Leavenworth and Atchison, in Kansas; Albert Lea, Minneapolis and St. Paul, in Minnesota; Watertown in Dakota, and hundreds of intermediate cities, towns and villages.

THE GREAT ROCK ISLAND ROUTE

Guarantees Speed, Comfort and Safety to those who travel over it. Its roadbed is thoroughly ballasted. Its track is of heavy steel. Its bridges are solid structures of stone and iron. Its rolling stock is perfect as human skill can make it. It has all the safety appliances that mechanical genius has invented and experience proved valuable. Its practical operation is conservative and methodical—its discipline strict and exacting. The luxury of its passenger accommodations is unequaled in the West—unsurpassed in the world.

ALL EXPRESS TRAINS between Chicago and the Missouri River consist of comfortable DAY COACHES, magnificent PULLMAN PALACE PARLOR and SLEEPING CARS, elegant DINING CARS providing excellent meals, and —between Chicago, St. Joseph, Atchison and Kansas City—restful RECLINING CHAIR CARS.

THE FAMOUS ALBERT LEA ROUTE

Is the direct, favorite line between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul. Over this route solid Fast Express Trains run daily to the summer resorts, picturesque localities and hunting and fishing grounds of Iowa and Minnesota. The rich wheat fields and grazing lands of interior Dakota are reached via Watertown.

A short desirable route, via Seneca and Kankakee, offers superior inducements to travelers between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, St. Paul and intermediate points.

All classes of patrons, especially families, ladies and children, receive from officials and employes of Rock Island trains protection, respectful courtesy and kindly attention.

BRAINERD. Incorporated as a city in 1883. Governed by a mayor and board of aldermen. Annual election in March. An enterprising city, located on the Mississippi river in the northwestern portion of Crow Wing county, of which it is the judicial seat. It is a junction station on the E. div. N. P. R. R., 127 miles northwest of Minneapolis, 105 southwest of Duluth, and 126 southeast of Fargo, and is the receiving and distributing point for the surrounding country, which exports large quantities of lumber, grain, furs and produce. It was first settled in 1870, and has made rapid progress, its eligible position aiding materially. The machine shops of the N. P. R. R. here, give employment to a large number of men, and the Northern Pacific hospital, for the use of the company's employes, is located here. The river at this point is now (October, 1887,) being securely dammed, which will furnish power for a large amount of machinery. The city has electric lights, water works, a street railway, good sewerage, saw and planing mills, sash, door and blind factory, two banks, several hotels, one daily and four weekly newspapers. The Daily and Weekly News, the Tribune, the Dispatch and the Journal (weekly), and wholesale and retail stores in nearly all branches of trade. The religious and educational facilities are excellent, and consist of Methodist, Congregational, Episcopal, Baptist, Lutheran, Swedish and Catholic churches, a graded public school and ward schools. A substantial court house has recently been erected, and a large and commodious opera house (seating capacity 1,000) is an attraction of the city. Prairie and timber land in the vicinity is worth from $5 to $10 per acre. Mail stages weekly to Leech Lake. Exp., N. P. Tel., W. U. Mail, daily. Population, 8,000. John H. Koop, postmaster.

CROOKSTON. A prosperous and enterprising city, and the judicial seat of Polk county, is located on Red Lake river and the St. P., M. & M. Ry., 299 miles northwest of St. Paul, on the direct line of travel to Manitoba and British North America. It is governed by a mayor and board of aldermen. W. D. Hurlbut, mayor; John Peterson, clerk; J. H. Locken, treas. Crookston has witnessed remarkable growth, and is destined to become an important commercial center, as the country tributary is one of the best farming districts in the state, and has been lavishly endowed by nature with every advantage. This city, the site of which a decade ago was a field of wheat and stretch of forest, is now teeming with mills, factories, stores, shops and dwellings. The excellent power furnished by Red Lake river is but yet only utilized by 1 large flouring mill. A steam saw mill in operation here is the third largest in the state, and a sash and door factory is also here. The streets are wide and well laid out, and one of its chief characteristics is the number of handsome private residences it boasts. There are 9 churches, graded public schools, a $28,000 high school building, 3 banks, good hotels and 3 newspapers, the Chronicle, the Times and the Polk County Journal. The city has the Holly system of water supply, a well organized and thoroughly equipped fire department, and the assessed valuation is $1,225,000, and the bonded debt $80,000. The principal shipment is wheat and lumber, and good land can be obtained in the vicinity at from $5 to $20 per acre. Daily stage and mail to Red Lake Falls, fare $1.50, and semi-weekly to Maple Bay, Fosston and Behaim. Numerous buildings are being erected, real estate is steadily advancing in value, business is increasing, and the outlook for a bright future must be gratifying indeed to those closely identified with its which is the finest harbor on the lakes, being 7 miles long, and having an average width of 1½ miles. Between Rice and Minnesota points lies the main harbor of Duluth, which is entered by a canal cut at a cost of $200,000. The first settlement was made here in 1851 by George C. Nettleton, who commenced trading with the Indians; 5 years later the city was named and platted, but comparatively few changes were made until 1868, since which time the improvement has been rapid and permanent. Duluth is 150 miles northeast of St Paul, 156 northeast of Minneapolis, 114 east of Brainerd, and 7 from Superior, Wisconsin. Besides the excellent transportational facilities afforded by Lake Superior, it has become a great railroad point. At the end of the year 1887 five different railroads had their own lines running into Duluth, with their offices and warehouses established. More than thirty roads have been incorporated within the last eighteen months, which either have Duluth in the title or are to build to this city. Among those whose plans have so far developed that their entrance to Duluth over their own line is but a matter of a short time, are the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba; Port Arthur, Duluth & Southwestern; Milwaukee, Lake Shore & Western; Duluth, Huron & Denver; Duluth, Red Wing & Southern; Chicago, St. Paul & Kansas City; Chicago, Burlington & Northern; Lake Superior & Pacific; Duluth, Rainy Lake & Southwestern, and Duluth Terminal Railway.

During no time in its existence has the city of Duluth made such rapid forward strides as during the twelve months following the first of January, 1887. The record surprised even the most sanguine, as the rapid advancement of cities having the requisite causes and forces for their development always does. Duluth's commanding geographical position, the unlimited harbor and dock facilities, her inexhaustible mineral, agricultural and timber resources, are factors which cannot fail in due course of time to build up at the head of the lake a commanding metropolitan city. We can give only a condensed account of the principal statistics in this sketch, but those interested in a more minute description of this wonderful city may refer to the Duluth Daily News Annual for 1888, from which most of these statistics have been taken.

TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS.

The tax levy for the year 1888 amounts to $347,569.36 for all purposes, based on a total valuation of $13,631,230, of which amount real property is estimated at $10,976,377, and personal property at $2,655,853. The rate of taxation is 25 5-10 mills, and the apportionment of the revenue to some of the leading expenditures is as follows: Fire department, $40,893.69; school fund, $50,435.55; school sinking fund, $5,452.49; school building fund, $35,411.20; interest on city and village bond sinking fund, $17,262.46; general fund, $68,156.15.

BANKS AND BANKING.

During the year 1887 five new banks were opened, most of the old banks increased their capital stock, and at the close of the year the capital stock of the Duluth banks amounted to $1,500,000, an increase of 150 per cent. in one year.

FREIGHT RECEIPTS AND SHIPMENTS.

The following table, though brief, is more eloquent of the commercial importance of Duluth than pages of glowing rhetoric.

FREIGHT RECEIVED (POUNDS).

Duluth & Iron Range	46,032,000
"Omaha" (estimated)	200,000,000
Northern Pacific	602,750,666
St. Paul & Duluth	954,524,961
Total	1,803,307,627

FREIGHT RECEIVED (POUNDS).

Duluth & Iron Range	49,116,000
"Omaha" (estimated)	150,000,000
Northern Pacific	442,804,160
St Paul & Duluth	815,388,330
Total	1,457,308,490

The grand total of freight handled by the railroads at Duluth in 1887 was 1.630,308 tons. Such figures need no comment.

BUILDING AND IMPROVEMENTS.

During 1887 750 new buildings were erected at a total cost of $2,901,695. These figures are ample proof that the buildings were of the most substantial character. The improvements on street grading, sewer laying and sidewalks involved a further cost of $542,367.30, while the improvements made by the established railroads, the Gas and Water Company, Street Railway Company, Electric Light Company, and the amount expended on harbor improvements, footed up to nearly $1,000,000. These figures, added to various improvements carried on by private individuals, will place the aggregate amount expended during 1887 on Duluth improvements at little less than $5,000,000.

POSTOFFICE BUSINESS.

Keeping pace with the rapid growth of the city has been the increase of business in the postoffice, but this department has been hampered by inadequate appropriations on the part of the government. By reference to the official report of the postmaster, it will be found that the carriers delivered 3,162,978 pieces of mail matter, exclusive of registered letters, during 1887, an excess over the previous year of 1,774,079 pieces, or nearly twice and a half as many. They collected 1,863,822 pieces last year, an excess over 1886 of 753,078 pieces. The sale of stamps, wrappers, envelopes and postal cards for last year amounted to $38,000, an increase of nearly $11.000 over 1886. All other branches of the office show the same gratifying increase.

ELEVATORS.

Duluth has sixteen elevators and grain warehouses with a total storage capacity of 19,350,000 bushels. They are owned by five different companies, of which the Lake Superior Elevator Company owns six, the Union Improvement & Elevator Company five, the Duluth Elevator Company three, the Great Northern Elevator Company one, and the St. Paul & Duluth Elevator Company one. The elevators are equally well adapted for the handling of corn and coarse grain as for wheat. Over half a million bushels of corn and considerable quantities of flax, oats, rye and barley have been received during the season closing Jan. 1, 1888. Wheat, of course, is the principal article for storage. Of this the total receipts and shipments for the year 1887 were 18,041,297, and 19,721,463 bushels respectively.

COAL TRADE.

The development of the coal trade at Duluth has been rapid and steady. Prior to 1881 only one company was doing business here. Since that time many new companies have been organized, large coal docks have been built, and the trade has grown year by year until during 1887 nearly 1,000,000 tons of coal were received at this port. The following table will indicate how rapidly this branch of the trade has developed. The figures given are the total receipts for the respective years:

Year.	Tons.
1878	31,000
1881	163,000
1882	260,000
1883	420,000
1885	595,000
1886	736,000
1887	912,000

The astonishing growth of Duluth can best be made clear to the reader by presenting the statistics of her population, wealth and business transactions for the two periods of 1880 and 1887, thus showing the contrast. The figures indicate a rapidity and stability of growth such as has fallen to the lot of but few cities in the United States during the same period.

	1880.	1887.
Population	3,470	35,000
Bank clearances	$10,186,033	$126,051,360
Bushels wheat shipped	1,347,675	19,821,463
Barrels of flour shipped	551,800	1,800,000
Elevator capacity, bushels	560,000	19,350,000
Receipts of freight by rail, tons	101,000	1,001,654
Arrivals and clearances	529	2,800
Tons of coal received	60,000	1,000,000
Taxable valuation	$669,012	$13,631,230
Miles of railroad	755	15,103
Bank capital	$50,000	$1,811,500

And the indications are that the present year will prove more prosperous than any of its predecessors. Exp., Am., U. S. and N. P. Tel., W. U. and North American. John Flynn, Postmaster.

Parsons' Business College and Shorthand Institute is one of the successful Educational Institutions of Duluth. This Institution was established in September, 1886, by W. F. Parsons, the President of the College. The College is conducted on the actual business plan, and is meeting with great success. Already students are coming from other States. It is connected with the Michigan chain of Business Colleges, and is just the kind of an Institution that a growing city like Duluth needs. All the branches that relate to a business education are taught.

FARIBAULT. The fifth city in the state in wealth, enterprise and importance, and the judicial seat of Rice county, in the south central part of which it is situated, on the C., M. & St. P. and the M. & St. L. Rys., 52 miles from Minneapolis and 50 from St. Paul. It was established in 1855, incorporated as a city in 1879, is governed by a mayor and common council and is surrounded by some of the finest agricultural country in the world, the products of which are very extensively exported. The confluence of the Cannon and the Strait rivers here affords excellent |water power, by which three flour mills are worked. The chief industry of the place is milling. There are in all 9 flouring mills, with a combined capacity of 1,000 barrels per day. Among its other enterprises may be mentioned 2 large breweries, a windmill factory, woolen mills, 2 furniture factories, 2 foundries, several carriagemakers' establishments, several good hotels, besides which all the various trades, callings and professions are fully represented. There are 2 national banks, with a combined capital of over $130,000. The state institution for the blind, the Deaf and Dumb Institute, and the State Imbecile Asylum are located here. Two weekly newspapers, the Republican and the Democrat, are published, and are potent, progressive and influential journals, ably edited and conducted. The city presents a beautiful and attractive appearance, is lighted by gas and electricity, maintains an efficient fire department, and has an excellent system of water works, the cost of construction and maintenance of which has already exceeded $155,000. The business streets are lined with substantial blocks, and the residential district is replete with handsome homes. The noticeable buildings are the Shattuck Hall, St. Mary's Hall, Deaf and Dumb Institute, Blind Institute, Seabury Hall, Imbecile Asylum, Court House, Episcopal Cathedral and school buildings. An opera house is also a feature of the city, and a public library is sustained. Its religious and educational advantages consist of 14 church edifices, the majority of which are handsome and imposing places of worship, representing all the principal denominations, and excellent public schools, in addition to which several other institutions located here enjoy wide repute, and the city is becoming notably prominent for the liberal and careful manner in which such matters are supported and sustained. The Shattuck school for boys is one of the most thorough military seminaries in the country. St. Mary's seminary for young girls enjoys a good reputation. The buildings of the Bishop Seabury Divinity School cost $75,000, and the college is deservedly noted. The Bethlehem Academy and a Roman Catholic school for girls are rapidly-growing institutions. The shipments from the place, comprise the articles manufactured here, in addition to the grain and produce of the adjacent country. Land in the vicinity ranges in price from $25 to $100 per acre. The assessed valuation is $1,972,361 and the bonded debt is $50,000. There are ten stone quarries in the neighborhood. Stage to Shieldsville semi-weekly. Population, 7,000. Tel., W. U. Exp., U. S. Mail, daily. J. R. Parshall, postmaster.

FERGUS FALLS. The judicial seat of Otter Tail county, is located on the N. P. R. R., on the St. C. & F. F. div. of the St. P., M. & M. Ry., and at the terminus of the P. R. line of the same road, 200 miles northwest of Minneapolis. The Red river here furnishes some of the finest water power in the state, which is partially utilized by various mills and factories, among which are several flouring mills and a paper mill. Among the business interests of the city are 3 national banks, 3 newspapers, the daily and weekly Journal, the Farmer and the Ugeblad, both issued weekly, 2 grain elevators, good hotels and numerous spacious and well-stocked special and general stores. There are 12 churches, the majority of which are handsome and imposing places of worship, and an excellent system of graded schools. The city is governed by a mayor and board of aldermen—Jacob Austin, mayor; A. S. Burroughs, treas.; E. J. Evans, clerk—is lighted by gas and electricity, has efficient police and fire departments, a splendid system of water works, telephone exchange, an opera house, and all the facilities and appointments of a progressive commercial centre. Its eligible location in the heart of the finest agricultural and lumber region in the world, coupled with the energy, enterprise and thrift of its citizens, have induced its rapid, and at the same time, steady growth, and its future as the metropolis of this section of the country is assured. The inducements to investing capital are of the most generous nature, and any legitimate enterprise locating here will receive a warm welcome and generous support. Tel., W. U. Exp., Am. and N. P. Stage to Herman and Perham tri-weekly. Population, 5,000. Mail, daily. George L. Nichols, postmaster.

GRANITE FALLS. The judicial seat of Yellow Medicine county, is a flourishing incorporated village, governed by a village council — Wm. Dodge, pres.; J. Lewis, recorder—and is located on the C., M. & St. P. Ry., 120 miles west of Minneapolis, and on the Minnesota river, which at this point furnishes power by which 3 flouring mills are propelled. The Duluth, Willmar & Sioux Falls railroad is completed to Willmar, 35 miles north of here, and will soon reach this point. The place contains 6 churches, a graded public school, 3 elevators, carriage and wagon factories, good hotels, 2 banks, and the usual complement of professional men, mechanics, artisans, general and special stores, etc. Two weekly newspapers, the Journal and the Tribune, are published, and are ably edited and progressive sheets, fully deserving the large amount of patronage they enjoy. Grain, flour and live stock are the main shipments. A rich and productive soil surrounds the place, affording every advantage for agriculture, so that with its excellent shipping facilities and natural advantages a bright future is assured. Stage to Wood Lake. Tel., W. U. Exp., Am. Population, 1,200. Henry J. Wilkinson, postmaster.

HASTINGS. The judicial seat of Dakota county, is located at the point where the Vermillion river empties into the Mississippi, and on the C., M. & St. P. Ry., 20 miles southeast of St. Paul, and 31 from Minneapolis. Its exceptional transportational facilities make it a shipping and receiving point of great importance to the surrounding country. The business streets are lined with fine brick blocks, while one of the characteristics of the city is the number of handsome private residences it boasts. The manufacturing and mercantile interests are extensive and rapidly increasing. They comprise a furniture factory, 2 breweries, a malt house, 2 foundries and machine shops 2 saw mills, 2 planing mills, 6 grain elevators, 2 sash, door and blind factories, 7 hotels, 3 banks and 2 live newspapers, the Gazette and the Democrat. The religious requirements are provided for by 11 church edifices, the majority of which are handsome and ornate structures; there are 3 Baptist, 1 Presbyterian, 2 Methodist, 2 Lutheran, 2 Catholic and 1 Episcopal, and it has an excellent system of graded public and Catholic schools. The court house, school building, Masonic block and Finch block are all fine specimens of architecture and attract considerable attention. The principal exports are flour, grain, lumber, and the products of the different factories. The soil in the vicinity is rich and productive, and land is valued at from $20 to $35 per acre. Stage to Prescott, Wis., daily; to Rich Valley, tri-weekly; and to Northfield semi-weekly. Tel., W. U. Exp., Am. Population, 4,000. Mail, daily. Michael McHugh, postmaster.

MANKATO. Was first settled in 1853, incorporated as a village in 1864, as a city in 1868, and is governed by a mayor and common council—A. R. Pfau, mayor; M. B. Davis, recorder; Henry Mohr, treas. It is located at the great bend of the Minnesota river, near its confluence with the Blue Earth river, in the north central part of Blue Earth county, of which it is the judicial seat, in the Blue Earth valley, one of the richest agricultural sections in the state. The prosperity and development of a city is largely dependent on its facilities for transportation, and to the exceptional advantages enjoyed by the city in this respect is due more than to any other single agency, its present prosperity. The C., St. P., M. & O. Ry., the C., M. & St. P. Ry., the C. & N. W. Ry., and the M. & St. L. Ry., all meet here and are developing some of the richest agricultural regions of the state, and gather into Mankato an immense and growing traffic. The manufacturing interests of the city are large and rapidly increasing, and include the largest cement works west of Milwaukee, drain tile and fire brick works, fibre ware works, 2 flouring mills, 2 feed mills, large linseed oil works, sewer pipe factory, a woolen mill, a mattress manufactory, machine shops, 4 brick yards, 3 lime kilns, the largest butter-tub factory in the world, a sash and blind factory, a horse collar manufactory, a brewery, 6 carriage and wagon factories, 2 marble yards, plow factories, and numerous others of minor importance. It also contains 2 butter and egg packing houses, 4 grain elevators, several wholesale houses, 3 national banks, besides a very thorough representation of all other branches of commerce. There are 16 churches, representing the leading religious denominations. A state Normal, 5 public and Catholic and German Lutheran schools, an opera house with a seating capacity of 1,500, 12 hotels, and lodges of all the secret and benevolent societies; the city is lighted by gas and electricity, has broad and well paved streets, an excellent system of water works, street railway, telephone exchange, and all the facilities and appointments of a thoroughly progressive commercial centre. The press is represented by the Free Press issued daily and weekly, and the Review, the Journal, the Register, the Public Spirit, the Post (German) and Der Beobachter (German) issued weekly. The assessed valuation of real and personal property is $2,412,541, and the bonded debt $136,000. Mankato can offer to the business man every advantage, to the home seeker a pleasant and healthful location and assure him of a hearty welcome, with every religious, educational and social advantage to be desired, while its central location, unrivaled

MINNEAPOLIS. One of the marvels of the marvelous Northwest is the wonderful city of Minneapolis. In business pursuits, in educational and religious advantages, and in the social graces, her people stand pre-eminently among the first. From a small handful of hardy pioneers, in a few brief years, Minneapolis has developed into a city approaching a population of 200,000. And great as has been her growth in the past, each succeeding year only sees the percentage of increase in wealth, population and manufacturing industries outdo that of any of their predecessors. Particularly has this been the case with the year 1887, as the following figures gathered from official and other reliable sources, plainly indicate: During 1887 the number of cars loaded with every conceivable kind of merchandise and household goods arriving in the city, was but little less than 175,000, while a total of over 153,000 loaded cars left the city. The value of real estate disposed of in 1887 exceeds by more than $21,000,000 the sales for the preceding year. The value of new buildings erected during the same time shows an excess of nearly $1,000,000 over 1886. The city engineer's report for 1887 shows that the enormous total of 75 miles of streets have been graded during the year; and that a stretch of water mains more than 50 miles in length has been laid through the streets of the city. Another important factor tending further to show the city's prosperity during the twelve months ending with January 1, 1888, is the 50-odd miles of sidewalk laid within the corporation. A striking evidence of the importance of Minneapolis as a manufacturing centre is shown by the statement that, great as was this branch of the city's business in 1886, that of the last year has exceeded it by nearly $5,000,000. Wheat receipts for 1887 reached not a bushel less than 46,000,000—an increase of something like 12,000,000 bushels over the receipts of 1886. About 500,000 more barrels of flour were here put upon the market during the year than was produced by the 30-odd mills in 1886. The total flour product for 1887 was more than 6,000,000 barrels.

POPULATION OF MINNEAPOLIS.

The population of the city in 1886 was estimated at 165,000, and on January 1, 1888, the most conservative of the residents of Minneapolis place the population on this date at 195,408, showing an increase during 1887 of 30,408.

Lest some may doubt the correctness of this statement, the following is subjoined in explanation:

Number of names in city directory for 1886, 49,720, which equals a population of 147,810. Number of names in 1887 city directory, compiled in June of that year, 59,281, equaling 177,843 persons. Allowing the same monthly increase for the last seven months (June to December inclusive), would add to the above 17,535, making the estimated population of Minneapolis at the close of 1887 the good round number of 195,378.

(See page 8.)

PARKS AND BOULEVARDS.

In the matter of public parks, than which scarcely nothing adds more to a a city's beauty and healthfulness, Minneapolis in the past few years has made rapid strides, even as the city has done in all other directions. Early in 1883 a board of park commissioners was organized, at which time the city had but three small and poorly kept parks; while at the beginning of 1888 the parks and parkways of Minneapolis was considerably more than 1,000 acres, divided as follows:

Washburn park, 10.08 acres.
Prospect park, 20.52 acres.
Riverside park, 19.78 acres.
Central park, 33.50 acres.
Murphy park, 3.33 acres.
Elliot park, 4 acres.
Franklin Steele square, 1.54 acres.
Hawthorn park, 1.13 acres.
Oak Lake park, 1.33 acres.
Lake Harriet park, 50 acres, 365 acres lake.
Lake of the Isle park, 161 acres.
Lake Calhoun terrace, 6.33 acres, 400 acres lake.
Lake Harriet boulevard, 3.50 miles.
Lake of the Isles boulevard, 3.57 miles.
Hennepin Avenue boulevard, 1.33 miles.
Kenwood boulevard, 0.68 miles.
Stinson boulevard, 1 mile.
Central park boulevard, 0.35 miles.
Lyndale boulevard, 1.35 miles.
Moulton tract, 10 acres.
Small tracts, about 15 acres.
Total area of parks, land and lake, 1,042.84 acres.
Total length of parkways, 12.53 miles.

During the year 1887, in addition to the ordinary routine work in caring for and improving the parks, a vast amount of work was done at Lake Calhoun and Lake of the Isles, and considerable grading on Lyndale avenue.

Sixty thousand dollars was expended during the same year for lands purchased, $20,500 for interest on bonds and, about $75,000 for expenses, salaries, pay rolls, improvements and care of parks.

During the winter season some of the parks are utilized as pleasure grounds. A speeding track, tobboggan slide and skating rink being laid out at Lake Calhoun, a driveway at Lake of the Isles, a skating rink and curling grounds at Central Park, and smaller skating rinks and tobboggan slides at Prospect, Oak Lake and other parks.

EDUCATIONAL.

Communities, by many persons, are judged by their educational advantages. Applying this test to Minneapolis, it does not suffer in comparison with any of the older cities of the East, while in the Northwest the school facilities of the city are unrivaled. Including medical and business colleges, music schools, art schools, etc., the total number of educational institutions in the city, not including the public schools, is 19.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

These are the promotors of the city's permanent welfare. And well may Minneapolis point with pride to these noble institutions of free education. The 40 schools of this class, during 1887, had a daily attendance of but little less than 16,000, a gain over 1886 of about 2,000. The total sum expended by the city for school purposes for the 12 months ending with Dec. 1, 1887, was $823,345.07. The High School library contains about 8,000 volumes.

CHURCHES.

The total number of church edifices, including missions, is 129, which number includes the magnificent Church of the Redeemer (Universalist), which was partially destroyed by fire in January, 1888. The total church membership is given at about 20,000, an increase of nearly twenty per cent. in 1887. The value of the church property is placed at $4,250,000. These church edifices are divided among the Methodists, Congregationalists, Baptists, Freewill Baptists, Presbyterians, Episcopalians, Universalists, Catholic, Lutheran Swedish, Norwegian, Danish, Finnish, German, English, Disciples, Evangelical, Unitarian, Friends, Adventists, Swedenborgian and Hebrew.

NEWSPAPERS AND PERIODICALS.

Including the monthly, fortnightly, semi-weekly, weekly and daily, the city has over 50 separate and distinct publications. These embrace nearly every class of publication, and represent a half-dozen or more languages. The daily press of the city is an acknowledged power throughout the Northwest, and being conducted by liberal minded men of large experience in their profession, their influence is each year being more and more extended.

Many of the figures in the foregoing sketch are from the Minneapolis Tribune of January 1, 1888 — one of the largest, if not the largest, and most complete single issue of a newspaper ever appearing in the Northwest.

THE BANKS.
